

Festival of Undergraduate Scholarship and Creativity

Call for Proposals

All undergraduates with majors or minors in the AddRan College of Liberal Arts are invited to submit a proposal to present original work (research, prose, poetry, etc.) at the Fifth Annual AddRan Festival of Undergraduate Scholarship and Creativity, to be held Friday, April 16, 2010 in the Student Union. To consider your submission we will need the following:

1. Title of Project
2. Student's name
3. Student's ID number
4. Student's email address and phone number
5. AddRan Affiliation
6. Sponsoring Faculty member
7. Sponsoring Faculty member's email address and phone number
8. Summary of project
9. Intention to present orally or by poster

The summary should follow the guidelines in your discipline (your sponsor will be able to help you with this) and not exceed 250 words.¹

¹Note that while students do not submit a paper as part of the festival, there is a related contest in which those whose projects have been accepted are invited participate. It includes both cash prizes and a chance to be published in the TCU Journal of Undergraduate Scholarship.

Please deliver materials to our committee by March 24, 2010 (electronic submissions are strongly preferred; contact information to be provided later). These will then be routed to the appropriate AddRan program, whose faculty will determine those accepted for the festival (students will be informed of decisions by March 30).

Please feel free to contact John Harvey (j.harvey@tcu.edu) with any questions.

TCU Bookstore gift cards will be awarded to the best presentations!!!

Presentations

Students may choose to make their presentation either orally or by poster. All presenters will be required to attend an orientation session.

Oral

Students giving oral presentations will be grouped into sessions of three to four. Each will be permitted ten to fifteen minutes (depending on the number of presenters), with time reserved at the end for interaction with the audience.

Poster

Students opting for this medium will summarize their project on a large poster and stand with their display on the day of the festival, interacting with the viewing public. Presenters will work with Instructional Services in producing the final product (the cost of which will be roughly $20).

Other

Students whose creative projects cannot be presented in either of the above formats are welcome to suggest alternatives.
